The Hon. Carl Schurz will deliver the oration on the 4th of July at Eau Claire.

The Northern Pacific railway will be completed to Portland, Oregon next August, at which time through trains will run from St. Paul, a distance of 1911 miles.

There is no "let up" to the travel to Europe. Eleven steamships sailed from New York last Saturday carrying over one thousand passengers. During last week about three thousand sailed from that port alone.

There are conflicting reports coming from Bloomington in regard to the condition of Marie Litta. Some reports say her condition is not at all encouraging, while others give her condition as much better than last week.

A Washington dispatch says the president's health is not good, and that he feels the loss of sleep caused by the pestilential malaria which is the bane of Washington. He will go to the Soldiers' Home for the balance of the season, and there hopes to regain his health.

They have a curiosity down in Joliet, Illinois, in the shape of a democratic alderman, who voted to raise the saloon license from $500 to $1,000. On his motion the license was increased to that amount. That this should be done in a democratic city and by a democratic council, is very strange and quite refreshing.

Mr. John W. Woodhull, secretary of the Masonic grand bodies of the state, is short about $1,600 in his accounts, the balance of the $5000 he probably made good. It is proposed that in future the Grand chapter, and the Grand commandery each elect their own secretaries, doing away with the practice of combining the three offices in one.

Property has almost doubled at Bismarck, Dakota, since the capital was located there. But there is considerable pertinence in the remark of the Inter Ocean, when it says: "Possibly there may come a time when the capital will start out on wheels again. If the people can get a round million dollars or so every time they move, why should they not move often?"

The public was greatly surprised to hear of the failure of Mr. Mandt, the extensive wagon manufacturer, at Stoughton. His liabilities are said to be about $125,000, and his assets from $75,000 to $100,000. The creditors held a meeting at Stoughton on Tuesday, at which Mr. Mandt made a few remarks, said that it had been rumored that he was sending off some property into other localities. He desired the creditors to appoint a committee to investigate the matter. He had no concealments to make, and wished to give the fullest information as to where every dollar of his property was, and a to every point in the condition of his affairs. The Madison Democrat says the people of Stoughton, the leading citizens being present at the meeting, expressed the warmest sympathy for and the strongest confidence in Mr. Mandt. The home creditors expressed themselves desirous to aid him in every possible way. They said they were willing to have a stock corporation formed upon his business plan, and to take stock in it to the amount of their claims against him. Such was the tenor of the talk. They semed to think a compromise could be effected, and were desirous that it should be done, and the business re-established and carried on at Stoughton.

THE INCREASE OF INSANITY.

In twenty years the ratio of increase in the number of insane people in this country has been so rapid as to have trebled the figures of 1860. In that year there were 24,042 insane persons out of a total population of 31,410,321 in the United States; but in 1880 the number of insane had increased to 91,977, while the population was only 50,155,783, thus making the ratio of increase in insanity three times greater than the population. The idiotic class has increased about in the same proportion as the insane. There were only 18,930 in this country in 1860, but in 1880 the number had risen to 76,825. For some time it was quite difficult in dealing with the insane and idiotic population as returned by the census, to adopt some rule for discriminating between the two unfortunate classes. It was finally agreed that if persons whose names were borne upon the census list of the insane were reported to have been insane from birth, they should be transferred to the list of idiots; and if persons were returned upon the list as idiots, who had become idiotic since the age of puberty—twelve years in girls and fourteen in boys—they shall be transferred to the list of insane. In this way the distinction was made between the idiotic and the insane in compiling the census of 1880.

The compendium of the tenth census does not attempt to give the causes which have led to the alarming increase of insanity in this country. It deals with figures and is silent as to conclusions. There have been a great many special articles written for our periodicals during the past few years on the causes of insanity and suicide. Many of these have been very able articles, written by the most eminent medical scholars in this country. The causes alleged to have produced this great increase of insanity were various and in some cases conflicting. At one time, a majority of all the insane in certain well known hospitals in the east, lost their reason under intense religious excitement. Those cases largely outnumbered the insanity cases growing out of intemperance. Excessive indulgence is driving thousands to insanity to-day, and as the morals of the people become more lax and fast living increases, unsound minds multiply on every hand. Unfortunate speculation once in a while will quickly dethrone a man's reason, and domestic troubles likewise make important contributions to the defective class of the insane, but immorality both acquired and inherited, and misfortune coupled with ill-health, over-work and grief, do as much as all other causes to fill the asylums for the insane.

WITH THE JURY.

The Star Route Case Goes to the Suffering Twelve.

The Judge's Charge--Scene in the Court Room--Major Wasson's Fall.

How Three Games of Poker Proved a Soldier's Undoing--The Nickerson Case--Cattle Exportation.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—At 3:30 yesterday afternoon the jury in the star-route case was placed in charge of three deputies, who were instructed to remain with them until a verdict is agreed upon. With the thermometer at 95, the judge humorously remarked that the rule depriving the jury of fire and light would be rigidly enforced. This brought out a cackle of laughter from prudent lawyers, who never fail to laugh at jokes cracked on the bench. Crane, the foreman of the jury, a sharp-featured, gray-bearded, nervous-looking man, asked that he be furnished with a copy of the charge, but the judge remarked that it was "all in the air." He said he had no record of it. If the jury were at a loss in regard to any point of law the court would relieve them. There was no scene when the jury went out. The court said it would be in readiness to receive a verdict up to 10 o'clock last evening. Col. Ingersoll sat and chatted with the judge for a time, and then went up town. Mrs. Dorsey and her sister took up their station at a restaurant opposite the court-room to wait for the verdict.

Up to midnight last night nothing had been heard from the jury. Their probable verdict is wholly beyond prediction. The defendants looked exceedingly dejected. Even the buoyant Ingersoll showed evident signs of depression.

Judge Wylie's charge was a fatherly talk to the jury. He called their attention to the fact that they were to consider the case regardless of any popular clamor, and to render a judgment upon the facts as they found them. All appeals to their sympathies were to be disregarded. The mercy of the law was in the law itself, in that it presumed every man innocent until the contrary was proven. The defendants could not be found guilty of an act committed prior to May 20, 1879. The statute of limitations barred that. He denied the theory that every link in the chain of evidence must be perfect. The charge as a whole is regarded as a model of fairness, and gives the lie to the implication that Wylie sat as a prejudiced judge. He talked to the jury for upward of two hours, in his slow, hesitating way, clearing up foggy points, not swerving to the right or left, but in the end materially strengthening the case for the government. The defense was satisfied with the charge, or else professed to be. At any rate, it was not as severe as forecasts had led people to believe.

Brady was in the court-room all day. His dark face was flushed red as he sat staring through his iron-bowed eye-glasses at the jury. Dorsey remained away. He was represented by his wife. She is a regular-featured lady in the neighborhood of thirty-five. She has bright, black eyes, a pallid complexion, ranged in a very marked fashion on her high cheek bones. She was dressed in a small checked black and white silk dress, and wore upon her dark hair a white straw hat, ornamented with a showy white drooping plume. She was accompanied by her sister, who shed occasional tears, but Mrs. Dorsey betrayed no emotion beyond that of extraordinary interest.

Ingersoll, in a thin summer suit, studied the jury all day. When leaving the court-room their last look was into the broad face of the colonel, who gazed at them over his spectacles with his most benevolent air.

The last hour of the day was occupied in conversational arguments between the judge and the counsel on both sides. The place inside the bar was well filled with lawyers, but outside there were not over fifty persons. The deputies all had on uniforms. In their double-breasted blue coats, with brass buttons, holding straight caps in their hands, they looked like strayed or stolen railroad conductors.

THE SAD CASE OF WASSON.

The Wasson trial has been watched with keen interest here. It now appears that Wasson originally lost $5,500 at three sittings at poker with a company of wealthy and reckless merchants. On the first evening he had been a winner to the amount of $100. After dinner it was proposed to play on the basis of $20 and an $80 limit. In less than two hours Wasson had lost $2,400.

The next night he lost $1,200, and at a third sitting $2,100, or $5,500 in all.

Now came the fatal temptation to pay his debts at the table by what he thought would only be a temporary though forced loan. Of the public money to which he had access, he drew $24,000, and out of that sum he paid his gambling debts. In the meantime he telegraphed home for a draft for the amount lost, in full expectation that he would get the money in time to cover his embezzlement before it could be discovered. To his dismay, however, word came that the money could not be raised.

Meantime Wasson, who has an almost quixotic sense of personal honor, was suffering all the torments of remorse, and within twelve hours after he had invented his false story, he surrendered himself voluntarily to the officers and made a clean breast of the crime. From this time on he exhibited a haughty despair which interfered with his own interest. He refused to have any counsel or to make any defense. He would not shake hands with his fellow-officers, saying he was outside the path of honest men, and refused the offer of a friend to make good the loss of money. He declared that his crime deserved the penitentiary, and there was where he was going. His actions grew so desperate that the officers in charge felt obliged to watch him closely for fear he would commit suicide. At first he made no defense, but finally, on the representation of Mr. Hawkins, a prominent lawyer, that he should consider the claims of his family, he consented to take counsel and make the best of the situation. The line of defense set up was that the defalcation was a sudden act; that the prisoner intended to make the loss good, and had done so; that he surrendered himself instead of attempting to escape to Mexico, as he might have done, and his unimpeachable record as an officer.

The following dispatch has been received here with reference to his trial, from San Antonio, Texas:

After the formal preliminaries in the Wasson court-martial trial yesterday, the accused, pale and erect, proceeded to submit his case. He displayed great firmness of voice and emphasis of intonation. The court was visibly affected, one member having recourse to his handkerchief as the defendant unfolded the story of his fall, but there was a perceptible revulsion of feeling when he recited his deliberate perpetration of the hoax of his alleged robbery on the train. Later on the defendant regained the sympathy of the court, commanding it to the end. The judge-advocate replied informally at some length.

After the court had been cleared there was a session of three hours. The finding will not be known for some weeks. Wasson's friends fear the worst.

THE PERJURED NICKERSON.

Much curiosity is exhibited here where the parties are so well known as to the present whereabouts of Major Nickerson. Reports have been made public that he was seen here on Saturday last in company with the lady whose recent marriage with him is now, by the action of the courts, made null and void, but this has not been corroborated, and it is asserted on the other hand that he has not been here for several weeks. The general impression seems to be that he is in Baltimore. So far as Major Nickerson's status in the army is concerned it matters not whether he presents himself to answer before a court-martial or keeps his place of residence secret. He will certainly be dismissed from the army, and if he does not appear in a reasonable time summary proceedings will be taken in his case. He spent a portion of his short honeymoon in a handsome residence on Dupont circle, near the house of Mr. Blaine, which he is reported to have purchased, and which is said now to be occupied by some relatives of his new wife. The plans of Mrs. Nickerson have not been divulged, but some of her friends think that as she has been so thoroughly vindicated she will institute proceedings for a divorce from the man who has so disgraced himself and so signally failed in his purpose to disgrace and wrong her. The sister of Major Nickerson's second wife died of consumption in the house on Dupont circle yesterday.

EXPORTATION OF CATTLE.

The treasury department has issued important regulations governing the importation of cattle from this country. In addition to quarantine cattle sheds now in use, vessels engaged in transporting cattle will be inspected and disinfected to prevent the germs of contagion from remaining in the apartment in which cattle are shipped. In view of these regulations it is thought England will relax the present stringent rules which seriously embarrass our export of live stock.

ALONG THE LINES.

A Close Call on the Northwestern---New Union Pacific Tariff--Notes.

CHICAGO, June 13.—A bad accident was narrowly avoided on the Northwestern road. When the train that leaves the city at 10:15, known as the Freeport train, was between Maywood and Elmhurst, its progress was stopped by a disabled freight train on the track just ahead. Scarcely had it come to a halt when another freight came thundering along behind, the difference in the running time between this and the passenger being, it is said, only eight minutes. The night was foggy, and the engineer of the approaching freight could not discern the rear lights of the passenger at any considerable distance. Brakeman A. J. Dale, who was at the rear of the passenger, instantly saw the danger, and leaping to the ground ran rapidly back to signal the freight engineer. When the engineer was warned he had little idea that it was possible for him to prevent a collission, and shouted at the top of his voice to the passengers: "Jump! I can't save her!" And the passengers, to the number of 150, did everlasting jump, filling the ditches and prodding themselves with the sharp barbs of the wire fence that incloses the right of way. The engineer stuck to his post, and by the greatest exertion succeeded in slacking his train so that the passenger train received a slight bump instead of the telescoping that was imminent. The passengers are loud in their praises of Conductor Hagerton and Brakeman Dale, especially the latter.

Then Union Pacific has established the following new rates between Kansas City or Leavenworth and Morganville: First class, 60 cents per 100 pounds; second, 53 cents; third 48 cents; fourth, 42 cents; fifth, 37 cents; Class A, 28 cents; Class B, 19 cents; Class C and D, 15 cents; salt, 17 cents. This company has also established the following new rates on Class D between Missouri river points and the following places; Apline, $98; Brackinridge, $103; Dillon, $103; Fairplay, $94; Granite, $94; Gunnison, $113; Hancock, $103; Keystone, $103; Kezar, $113; Leadville, $103; London Junction, $89; Malta, $101; Ohio City; Parlins, and Pitkins, $107; Sapinero, $113; St. Elmo, $102; Woodstock, $107.

NOTES.

The annual meetings of the stockholders of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul's proprietary lines in Illinois were held yesterday at the company's offices in Ashland Block. The Milwaukee & St. Paul in Illinois elected the following directors for the next three years: Elijah Wadsworth, Leslie Carter, and Ernest Carter. The following directors hold over: Alexander Mitchell, S. S. Merrill, John W. Cary, Julius Wadsworth, and E. Walker. The stockholders of the Chicago & Pacific elected the following directors to serve during the ensuing year: Alexander Mitchell, S. L. Merrill, John W. Cary, E. Walker, Leslie Carter, Ernest Carter, T. W. Wadsworth. The stockholders of the Central Illinois & Wisconsin elected the following directors: Ralph Emerson, E. Walker, A. Mitchell, S. S. Merrill and John W. Cary.

Some scoundrels fastened a railroad-tie in a cattle-guard near Rosehille, on the Milwaukee division of the Chicago & Northwestern railway, Saturday night, causing a disaster to a freight train, the engine and several cars being wrecked. Fortunately no person was hurt. The wreck seriously interfered with the running arrangements of the road for a time.

A special train with the Siddons company left here by the Nickel-Plate at 12:15 Sunday night, and arrived in Buffalo at 3:45 p. m. Monday, an average speed of 35.7 miles per hour. The Nickel plate people think this is doing pretty well for a new road.

Mr. E. D. Moore, general agent of the Southwestern Railway association, gives notice that hereafter the following rates will govern on shipments of live hogs from Missouri river points: To Chicago, $45 per car; to Mississippi river points, $32.50.

Nearer to Nature.

Nature has made her laws with us, which we must obey or suffer the penalty. This penalty is often lung or throat trouble, which leads on to consumption. Every man believes consumption incurable. People have been educated to this belief, which is proven incorrect by Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure which is nature's great helpmate, and it cures consumption and all throat and lung diseases speedily and permanently. THE WIZARD BEATEN.

Vignaux Carries Off the Honors of the New York Billiard Tournament---Turf News---The Diamond.

NEW YORK, June 13.—About twelve hundred persons, including many ladies, witnessed the defeat of Jacob Schaefer by Maurice Vignaux, the French billiardist, last evening. The game was 800 points up under the bulk-line rule for $1,000 a side and the emblem of championship. Budd Schofield acted as marker and William Sexton as referee. The appearance of both of the celebrated experts was greeted with cheers. Schaefer ran the lead, and choosing the black ball, won 3 points. Vignaux followed with a string of 17. In the fifth inning he added 21 to his score by careful work at the rail. In the next inning Schaefer drew slightly ahead by ticking off 47 points, and making several wonderful bank and masse shots in the course of his run.

In the thirteenth inning Vignaux took off his dress coat, and with the perspiration standing in beads upon his forehead went to work in earnest. He made 36 and rounded his first hundred, and 7 points ahead of his antagonist. The "wizard," however by a the run of 82 left the Frenchman in the rear.

In the seventeenth inning Vignaux, by rapid play, drove the balls down the right-hand rail, and in the midst of much applause sat down after chalking up 90 points to his credit. This made him 200, while Schaefer remained at 166. At this point the American seemed to get discouraged and missed a number of easy shots. The Parisian, on the contrary, played a strong game, and, beginning with the twenty-seventh inning, made runs of 80, 51, 101, 4, 24 and 106. This placed him over 200 points in front. Schaefer thus had almost hopeless odds to contend against. He picked up in his play, however, and in the twenty-ninth inning ran 67, almost as fast as the marker could call them out. In the thirty-sixth, and last inning, he ran 99 points, and showed by far the best work of the evening. Vignaux's score was 725 points, and he went in to finish the game with the utmost deliberation. He took no chances and made no risky plays. Slowly but surely he ticked off the requisite number of points and ran the game out. His victory was greeted with a hearty outburst of applause. The score was:

Vignaux—17, 0, 4, 0, 21, 6, 0, 2, 0, 3, 3, 10, 36, 0, 9, 0, 90, 2, 31, 28, 1, 14, 2, 6, 4, 16, 80, 51, 101, 4, 24, 106, 0, 3, 43, 75—800. Average, 22 2-9; highest run, 106.

Schäefer—3, 5, 0, 0, 4, 47, 11, 0, 0, 1, 0, 1, 22, 5, 62, 0, 5, 5, 1, 42, 30, 0, 42, 1, 4, 1, 30, 0, 67, 25, 42, 1, 1, 37, 40, 90—544. Average, 17, 8-9; highest run, 90.

CROOK'S CAMPAIGN.

The Old Indian Fighter Reports Himself to Headquarters in Good Order.

He Bags the Redskins by the Hundred Without the Loss of a Man.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 13.—The following dispatch from Gen. Crook was received at military headquarters yesterday afternoon:

"SILVER CREEK, A. T., twelve miles north of boundary, via Tombstone—Left here May 1 with 193 Apache scouts under Crawford; got Wood and Mackey with Chaffee's company of forty-two men of the Sixth cavalry; had rations for two months on mules; followed the hostiles, the Chiricahuas. The country is of indescribable roughness; a number of mules lost their footing, and stepping from the trail, fell down precipices and were killed. The stronghold of the Chiricahuas is in the very heart of the Sierra Madres, and the position is finely watered, with a dense growth of timber and plenty of grass. They had been camped for miles near the head of the Bavispe, occupying prominent elevated peaks, affording a fine lookout for miles, rendering surprise almost impossible, and making retreats secure through the rough adjacent canons. Capt. Crawford, with the Indian scouts, early on the morning of May 15, surprised the village of Chata, the chief who led the recent raid into Arizona and New Mexico. The fight lasted all day. The village was wiped out, but the damage done cannot be estimated. A number of dead bodies were found, but the indescribable roughness of the country prevented a count being made. The entire camp, with the stock and everything belonging to it, was captured. We learned from the prisoners taken that the Chiricahuas were unanimous for peace, and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 17th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastnesses, and had scattered like quail. They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. I told the Chiricahuas to gather up their women and children without delay. They answered that they could not get them to respond to the signals, the fugitives fearing they might be sent by our Apache scouts to entrap them. They told us they had a white boy, who was in the village taken by our scouts. He had run off with the squaws who escaped, and who had not yet been heard from. They assured me that every one of the band should come in if I would remain a short time. The terms of the treaty embarrassed me greatly, and being in that rough region, with rations rapidly disappearing, and there being between 300 and 400 Chiricahuas to feed, I was compelled to return with the Chiricahuas. We found six Mexican captives, five women and one child, taken by the Chiricahuas early in May. They are now with my command. These women say they were captured near the Mexican Central railroad, at a place called Carmen. They further state that when the Chiricahuas discovered that Apache scouts were in the country they became greatly alarmed, and abandoned on the trail the 300 head of cattle they were driving away from points in western Chihuahua. The cattle were afterward picked up and driven off by a body of Mexicans. We marched back as rapidly as the condition of the stock and the strength of the women and children would permit, and found the country depopulated for a distance of 100 miles from the Apache stronghold. The Chiricahuas insist that they have always lived in the Sierra Madres, that even when the main body went on the reservation some remained behind in the mountains. Of those now out there are a number who state that they never have been on the reservation. I have strong hopes of being able to clear the mountains of the last. Of these now with us are Loco and Nana, so often reported killed, and the families of other prominent chiefs. We saw no Mexican troops, and after leaving the settlements in northeastern Sonora, did not see a Mexican other than the captives rescued. I have such assurances from the Indians that the white boy will be brought back alive that I am looking for him every moment, and will inform you by courier."

AGAINST OLEOMARGARINE.

Justice Miller's Decision in the Celebrated Missouri Case.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 13.—Justice Miller delivered his opinion yesterday in the oleomargarine case, argued two weeks ago. It is generally adverse to the oleomargarine company. John Brosnahan, Jr., agent of the Southern dairy company, of Louisville, Ky., was arrested for selling oleomargarine. This was a misdemeanor under the Missouri statute. The case was brought before the United States Circuit court under a writ of habeas corpus. The petitioner argued that the statute was illegal, because it prohibited the manufacture and the sale of an article which was patented under the United States laws, that it interfered with interstate commerce, and nullified the value of legitimate property. The court maintained that the right under the patent laws was simply protective, as against competitors; that it merely secured to an inventor a monopoly of his invention, and therefore the statute was not antagonistic, nor was it a restriction of commerce between the states, but concerns only traffic within the states. The Missouri statute was therefore declared constitutional, and the case was referred back to the state courts.

Inciting to Murder.

TROY, N. Y., June 13.—William Sleicher, a member of the firm owning the iron-works, was examined yesterday on charges of having instigated the shooting of Hutchinson, by saying he would give $15 for every one of the strikers whom any one would kill. He was refused bail, and a warrant was prepared against him charging murder, William B. Hagen having sworn that Sleicher offered him a reward for every union molder he shot. Imeson, Winestone, and Law have been recognized as the three leaders in all the troubles that have followed the introduction of non-union men into the malleable iron works. All three have been arrested.

The Tide of Immigration.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Five steamers landed 3,411 emigrant passengers at Castle Garden. The Baltic, Brittanic, and the Alaska, all from Liverpool, brought 847 and 474 respectively. The Rheatra, from Hamburg, had 1,190, and the Nemesis, from Amsterdam, had sixteen. After this week the emigration commissioners look to see a gradual decline in the number of arrivals, the season being now at its height.

Caustic Benjamin.

BOSTON, Mass., June 13.—Governor Butler has written a caustic letter to the state board of charities in which he brands as impertinent their inquiry for his reasons for refusing to sign the warrants for the salaries of certain employes. He says it is simply none of the board's business.

Dr. Tanner's Stomach.

Dr. Tanner certainly has a great stomach—great because of its strength and endurance. We may err in saying that the doctor uses Burdock Blood Bitters, but if he does, his digestive powers are easily accounted for. Burdock Blood Bitters being a standard medicine are sold by all druggists.

A new York dispatch to the Washington Star says the Tilden boom is on the increase, but that Tilden refuses to be put forward. An Albany dispatch to The World insists that Tilden will be a candidate in 1884, and is working to that end. The World itself thinks an unknown man will be nominated to the Democracy. An Indianapolis dispatch states that McDonald and Hendricks sat side by side at a banquet, for two hours, without speaking to each other.

In a letter from New York The Louisville Courier-Journal, Mr. Henry Watterson recounts a visit to ex-Gov. Samuel J. Tilden at Greystone. The veteran publicist is described as being in excellent health, active, and enduring, with an intellect unclouded and a wit as keen as it was years ago, while he is as much interested in the events of the day as ever he was. Lest all this should cause anxiety among aspiring politicians, Mr. Watterson gives it as his opinion, based upon conversation with his host, that there is no power upon earth that could induce Tilden to again become a candidate for the presidency.

Some Facts About Lard.

CHICAGO, June 13.—"You haven't got all the fact in regard to Garland and Henderson's testimony," said a well-known board of trade man to a reporter. "I want to say this to you: This McGeoch controversy with the Fowlers is of more importance than anything that has taken place here for years on the board of trade. These men just simply stated to the board of directors that from the rendering-room the lard is sent to four big tanks in the receiving-room. These mammoth kettles hold 250 tierces each. No. 4 tank was the receptacle of the melted tallow and cotton-seed oil. Under this tank is a large vat, and from tank No. 4 there is a pipe leading back into the rendering-room. From this tank the hot mixture of cotton-seed oil and lard is pumped back into the rendering-room into the general receiving tank, where it is mixed with the lard. You see that gives an adulteration of at least 25 per cent. The difference in price of this stuff and pure leaf lard is at least from 5 to 6 cents, and makes a difference of from $5 to $6 on a barrel. Garland testified to this, and Henderson testified as to how he laid these pipes. So you see no one was cognizant of this funny work except the employes. This matter of adulterating lard is simple enough, and this adulteration business doesn't do Chicago any good, but I am glad it is being exposed."

Illinois Legislature.

SPRINGFIELD, June 13.—In the senate yesterday, the fee and salary bill was sent to third reading; policemen were given authority to serve warrants; the bill to permit railways to extend their lines went to third reading; a resolution to protect the interests of the Illinois and Michigan canal in Cook county was passed. A bill to prevent bank officers from dealing in options was defeated.

In the house the bill to compel mine owners to erect air and escape shafts was passed. The bill giving servants preferred claims for unpaid wages was passed. The general tax levy bill was advanced to third reading, and the house adjourned in confusion.

Pennsylvania's Trade Tribunal.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 13.—The trade tribunal appointed to settle the wages of the railroad coal miners announced yesterday that the disagreement over the discharge of a miner on account of his connection with the tribunal had been adjusted, and there was nothing to interfere with an amicable arrangement of the rate of wages. No business was transacted save the examination of statistics received from operators showing the cost of mining.

Wisconsin Masons.

MILWAUKEE, June 13.—The Masonic Grand lodge of Wisconsin convened to-day in annual session, with about four hundred delegates. A stormy convention is expected, owing to the alleged shortage in the accounts of the grand secretary, John W. Woodhull.

THE WILD WINDS.

Southern Illinois Gets a Taste of the Tornado, and Kansas Experiences a Zeyphr—Loss of Life and Property.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 13.—Meager accounts from Williamson county, in southern Illinois, say a tornado, about a quarter of a mile wide, crossed the northeastern corner of the county last Saturday night, blew down several houses, scattered fences, and tore up forest trees in its path. Two boys were killed at Newbernside and a whole family were struck by lightning, most of whom are dying. Whole flocks of sheep were blown away, and all peach orchards in the track of the storm were uprooted. It is reported that twenty or more people were killed, but of this there is no definite knowledge.

IN KANSAS.

ABILENE, Kan., June 13.—A windstorm at ten o'clock last night, twelve miles north of Abilene, did a large amount of damage along the line of Dixon and Clay counties. Thirteen houses, barns and stables were blown down. Several persons were injured, and one little child killed. The small village of Industry, in Clay county, was almost literally destroyed, every house but two being blown down. It is also reported that Wakefield, in the same county, suffered severely. The storm was accompanied by rain and hail.

VALLEY FALLS, Kan., June 13.—A severe wind-storm passed over this section about 11:45, doing considerable damage. Marion Lewis' livery stable was unroofed, and the walls were partly blown down. The Methodist church was unroofed, and the west walls were partly blown down. The Baptist's was unroofed, and a new block in process of erection was partly blown down. Three freight cars were blown off a side track, and large numbers of other buildings were also more or less damaged. About six miles west of town the Allen school-house and two farm-houses were blown all to pieces, and one man was hurt, but not dangerously.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 13.—The storm did very little damage in this city, but out on the Kansas Central road the damage was heavier, and ten miles west of Clay Centre three cars were blown from the track over the bridge into the creek twenty-five feet below. The cars are badly damaged, and C. W. Gordon, commercial traveler; Mrs. Geils and her little daughter; M. J. Reagan, conductor; Sheldon, express messenger, and A. T. Welch, mail agent, were badly bruised, though not seriously, except the little girl, who is thought to be internally injured.

BELOIT, WISCONSIN.

BELOIT, Wis., June 13.—The damage by the late storm here is estimated at $75,000. Had the storm's ravages been upon the residences instead of the trees, the consequences would have been frightful. As large as the loss of property is, it is so scattered about the city as not to be particularly noticeable, excepting near the bridge. The injured are all doing well. Reports from the surrounding country show that the storm was confined to this city. No city ever had a more narrow escape from utter demolition than this, and people realizing it are not complaining over the misfortune which has befallen them.

A CHICAGO ROMANCE.

How Patrick Ronan Got Two Wives and Haines Has None—Threats of Tar and Feathers.

CHICAGO, June 13.—Patrick Ronan has a wife and several children at Riverside, and up to yesterday afternoon Mrs. Haines had a husband, said to be an industrious and prosperous blacksmith. Several years ago Ronan arrived at Riverside, barefooted and poverty-stricken, but he had a good wife and she helped him to ease and comfort. About two years ago Ronan began to show signs of neglecting his family, and found pleasure in the company of Mrs. Haines, a young and rather good-looking person. Mr. Haines and Mrs. Ronan objected, expostulated, and threatened, all to no avail.

Monday afternoon Haines returned home from work, and, as usual, found Ronan with Mrs. Haines. Ronan did not appear at all disconcerted, and coolly asked Haines if he wasn't getting tired of his wife.

"No, I am not tired of my wife, but I am tired of the way you and she are acting," answered Haines.

"She is the only woman I ever loved," exclaimed Ronan, "and if you will leave her I will take care of her."

Mrs. Haines admitted that she returned the passion of Ronan, and to prove it ran to where he was seated and embraced him, covering his face with kisses.

For a moment Haines seemed stunned. He thought the matter over, and concluded to yield to Ronan's suggestion. Yesterday Haines closed up his business and left Riverside.

Mrs. Ronan and her children are objects of great sympathy, and threats of tar and feathers for Ronan and Mrs. Haines are freely made in Riverside and neighboring hamlets.

Graduation Day at West Point.

NEWBURG, N. Y., June 12.—The annual exercises at West Point were concluded today, when the graduating class of 1883 received diplomas. The diplomas were handed the cadets by Secretary Lincoln, who made a brief remark to each. Gen. Terry made the annual address. His reference to Gens. Grant and Sherman were loudly applauded. Rear Admiral Rodgers also made an address, and speeches were made by Secretary Lincoln and Gen. Sherman. The latter urged the graduates to attend closely to the duties of their profession, and trust the government and the country, and trust God; for an opportunity might come when they could prove themselves heroes, as others had done. He said that this would probably be the last time he would speak to them, as in a few months he would retire.

The Massachusetts Governorship.

CINCINNATI, June 13.—A New York special to The Enquirer says: In Massachusetts Talbot and Judge Devens are the two from whom the candidate to beat Butler will be selected next fall. Devins would make something of a hurrah with the aid of the G. A. R. Talbot is handicapped by his ultra-temperance associations, having approved the landlord's liability legislation. The cries of the Republican organs have been so shrill and savage against the independent movement started by Charles Francis Adams, Jr., Theodore Lyman, Leverett Saltonstall and their like that nobody seems to want to be known to have been concerned in it. Nevertheless, some sagacious Republicans think that John Quincy Adams, though for many years the standing Democratic candidate for governor, would be the strongest nomination the Republican convention could approve.

Mlle. Litta.

CHICAGO, June 13.—A dispatch from Bloomington, Ill., states that both of Mlle. Litta's physicians agree that she is much better, and that the chances are now favorable for her speedy and complete recovery. Her great pain seems to have almost entirely subsided, and she is gradually being relieved of her nervous prostration.

Chronic Diseases.

A Special Study for Years.

Dr. F. B. BREWER,

Has made Chronic Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Nerves and Blood.

A special treatment for years. He is not a boastful, ignorant pretender, but an educated physician, seeking to do good, by devoting his talent and energies to the treatment of a class of maladies that have been with him a long and patient study. To be able to treat successfully chronic diseases it requires that a physician should be a sound, thorough scholar in the art of science and medicine generally. He should give his entire time to their study, be thorough in his investigations and have a long and varied experience. Dr. Brewer claims to work no wonders or to do any more than any well educated physician can do, who devotes his whole time to the study and treatment of chronic diseases exclusively, and has had his many years' of experience. For years Dr. Brewer has visited the the places he now visits, and has obtained his reputation by being honest in his dealings, candid in opinions and reasonable in his charges. Those who are afflicted are invited to call, investigate and decide for themselves. It will cost nothing to do so. Address all letters to F. B. BREWER, M. D., Lock Box 350, Chicago, Ill

Dr. F. B. Brewer will be at Janesville, Myers house, Saturday the 14th of July.

—A stranger, of respectable appearance and somewhat solemn demeanor, entered a flour dealer's store in Oswego a day or two ago and said that he wished to pay for a barrel of flour fraudulently obtained thirty years ago. He "calculated" that flour was then worth four dollars a barrel, and without another word he handed out sixteen dollars and went his way.—N. Y. Times.

—Revivalist Bliss told a Boston congregation that Moody and Sankey received a lively reception at Oxford. Six hundred undergraduates attempted to break up the first meeting. They boisterously applauded Sankey when he sang and Moody when he preached. On the second night they interrupted the services by rattling their canes. Moody went down among them, seized two of the principal disturbers, and declared that he would throw them out if they did not keep quiet. This put an end to the young men's bad behavior.—Boston Transcript.

—The fashionable people are running to buttons. A New York correspondent describes a dress recently finished for a Fifth avenue lady which carries 1,800 buttons, and required the constant labor of a seamstress for ten days to sew them on. On each sleeve there are 100 buttons, on the body, basque and collar 350, and on the skirt 1,350. Those on the skirt are arranged in triangles, squares, crosses, stars and other curious shapes, on foundation of black satin. The dress has a satiny appearance and is very weighty—so much so that it will require a lady of considerable strength to wear it.

—Upon the body of a man who died in Philadelphia the other day, was found a canvas belt containing several thousand dollars. He was of a suspicious nature, and had come gradually to distrust every human being but himself. He abandoned his wife, avoided his relatives, placed no confidence in banks, and converting all his property into cash, carried it constantly on his person as the only means of saving it. And yet he died suddenly, leaving his heirs to quarrel over his possessions, as they might not have done had a savings bank had a chance at them first.—Philadelphia Press.

—A Philadelphia society is looking after the welfare of children employed in factories. One case was that of a little girl who had been the main support of her drunken parents. She went to work at six o'clock every night and toiled at the looms until eight o'clock in the morning, she said, and the agents of the society say her story has been confirmed, and that during the night the arms of the little toilers became so tired and their eyes so heavy that often their heads bobbed and their hands dropped the spool which they were putting up on the machinery. There was a watchman, part of whose business it was to go about among the looms and give the drowsy children a vigorous shake or a prod with a stick to keep them from dropping asleep as they stood.—Philadelphia Record.

—One of the important changes brought about by present ways of doing business is the manner of bringing the oil captured by Pacific Ocean whalers to the New York market. Instead of giving it a six months' sail around Cape Horn, the whalers now run into San Francisco, deliver their catch to the train, and in ten days the oil is on sale in New York markets.—N. Y. Tribune.

A Baptist Minister's Experience.

"I am a Baptist minister, and before I ever thought of being a clergyman I graduated in medicine, but left a lucrative practice for my present profession, forty years ago. I was for many years a sufferer from quinsy. Thomas' Electric Oil cured me. I was also troubled with hoarseness, and Thomas' Electric Oil always relieved me. My wife and child had diphtheria, and Thomas' Electric Oil cured them, and if taken in time it will cure seven times out of ten. I am confident it is a cure for the most obstinate cold or cough, and if any one will take a small teaspoon and half fill it with the Oil, and then place the end of the spoon in one nostril and draw the oil out of the spoon into the head by sniffing as hard as they can, until the oil falls over into the throat, and practice it twice a week, I dont care how offensive their head may be, it will clean it out and cure their catarrh. For deafness and earache, it has done wonders to my certain knowledge. It is the only medicine dubbed patent medicine that I have ever felt like recommending, and I am very anxious to see it in every place, for I tell you that I would not be without it in my house for any consideration. I am now suffering with a pain like rheumatism in my right limb, and nothing relieves me like Thomas' Electric Oil." Dr. E. F. Crane, Corry, Pa.

A vigorous growth of hair is promoted and the youthful color restored by applying Parker's Hair Balsam.

Hints on Farm Economy.

By far too many farmers keep no books or accounts, and hence never really know whether they are making money or losing it. Many more make a pretense of keeping an account of the year's receipts and expenses, which is much better than keeping none, but still is not as thorough and satisfactory in its results as the careful, prudent farmer should desire. Look at the merchant, for example; his books are so accurately kept, that at the end of the year he knows exactly how he stands. He knows just what class of goods has paid him a profit, and just what have not, as well as those that will pay him best to handle for another season. His expense account, including clerk hire, light, fuel, rents, insurance, etc., every item has been carefully kept; his "bills payable" and "bills receivable," and his "stock invoices," are all embodied in a system of book-keeping so admirably correct, that at a glance he can ascertain the exact condition of his business.

Fancy a merchant doing a successful business and keeping no books. The commercial agencies of the country would soon report him as a swindler, or else in such a deplorable mental condition, that his own interests would require the appointment of a guardian to look after his affairs. While this policy on the part of the merchant would be so considered, yet the majority, we fear, of the farmers of this country are guilty of the same kind of lunacy, in their neglect to keep strict account of the transactions on the farm. Too many farmers go right on season after season, raising certain crops, that may or may not pay them. A general lumping of the receipts, and a haphazard guess at the expenditures for the year, may show that they have made some money, or rather, more properly putting it, that they have gone through a year's hard work and have "something left to show for it." Had a separate account been kept with the different crops raised, the fact would have doubtless been disclosed, that the losses on some one of them had materially reduced the profits which the labor and capital invested should demand. An item of expense on the farm and one nearly always overlooked, is the cost of hand and team labor. Suppose a crop requires besides the cost of manuring, nearly all of the time of hands and team to attend to it, this is an item of expense, an important one too, that must be charged against this crop in order to determine whether or not it is a paying one.

There are so many avenues of loss, that the most careful and systematic reckoning should be kept, in order to avoid mistakes in management and errors in calculation, in time to prevent the serious consequences which so often result from their being overlooked.

Of course, in keeping strict account of all the transactions of the farm, much difficulty will often be experienced in determining to just what account certain items should be credited or charged; but after a time practice and experience will enable one to reach an approximate correctness of detail which will prove quite satisfactory, and productive of far better results than the old way of keeping no account at all. Try it a year and let us hear the result.—Prairie Farmer.

Training.

The most successful way of training an animal is to begin with it when quite young. Two things should supplement a knowledge of the way to train—kindness and decision; these are essentials. Many that have been raised to animals all their lives have but a very poor idea of the extent to which animals can be trained, rendering them far more valuable and safe. Those who have watched the performances of trick animals in shows should be led to believe that animals can as well be trained for greater usefulness as they can to perform tricks for show. The trouble is that the average man does not see the benefit of training his dumb animals for usefulness or safety, and they do not as a general thing give the brutes credit for the powers of comprehension that they are entitled to. It is just as well to have a tractable, safe animal as to have a wild, vicious one, if you will commence to train them when young and will exercise the patience requisite to accomplish the desired end, and if this is true in reference to the horse, it is also as true with reference to the cow. Cows can be trained to come to a certain place and remain quietly to be milked as not; animals naturally are attached to man, and after once being handled are only rendered wild and stubborn by unkindness and rough usage. Commence with your animals when quite young and train them to do just what you wish them to do. Exercise kindness and patience and you will surely succeed.—California Exchange.

There's Where He Had Her.

"Two hundred dollars for making a plain dress?" he yelled, as he saw the bill—"I'll never pay it!"

"You have been very stingy with me for the last year," she replied.

"You are extravagant."

"No more than you are!"

"I'll never pay this bill!"

"You must!"

"Never!"

"Then I'll pawn my diamonds and pay it myself!"

"Ha!"

"Yes, ha!"

He goes out chuckling. He knows her to be a woman of her word, and he is wondering how she will feel as the pawn-broker politely hands them back, with the observation:

"We never advance money on the paste article!"—Wall Street News.

Drops of Water.

MR. JOSEPH G. BICKNELL, No. 612 Main Street, Cambridgeport, Mass., writes, April 27, 1883: "I have been terribly afflicted for a number of years with gravel and kidney disease. My urine contained brick-dust deposits, and at times I could not pass my water except in drops and with great pain; and have had to get up as many as fifteen times during the night. I tried several physicians; they did me no good, but a friend of mine, who had used Hunt's Remedy, told me to get a bottle and try it. He had been cured of a severe case similar to mine, and that others had used Hunt's Remedy in Cambridge and pronounced it a medecine of real merit. After being repeatedly urged I purchased a bottle, and before I had used all of it I passed a stone as large as a pea, followed by smaller ones. I have used in all ten bottles, and it has completely cured me. My kidneys are in excellent condition, and for one of my age (68) sixty-eight years, I can truly say I feel like a young man with strength and vitality. My family use the Remedy, and would not be without it, and never fail to recommend it to our friends and neighbors in Cambridge and Boston. You are at liberty to use my name in praise of the best kidney and liver medecine, Hunt's Remedy."

"Did Wonders for Me."

The above words from MR. LEWIS KEEN, No. 9 Highland Avenue, Malden, Mass. April 28, 1883, He says: "I have been troubled for years with kidney and liver complaint, followed by gravel, with severe pains in my back and groins. I had great trouble in passing water, it being scanty, and accompanied by terrible burning, the vessel being coated with brick-dust deposit I was recommended to use Hunt's Remedy by a friend who had been completely cured of a similar trouble. I purchased a bottle at the druggists, and commenced to improve at once. I have used but two bottles, and it has done wonders for me—no more kidney trouble, no more pain. It has given me new life, and I would not be without Hunt's Remedy at any price. It is all that it is recommended to be, and I cheerfully give this testimony for the benefit of the many sufferers from kidney disease and gravel."

FOR SPRING AND SUMMER USE.

We will not attempt to enumerate what we have, nor to describe our stock further than to say that it consists of the best obtainable, in every department. We keep everything that is usually found in a first-class Hardware and Stove Store, and a few things besides, and have taken especial pains this spring to have everything up to the standard. In articles of different makes, such as

Stoves, Ranges,
Household Implements and labor saving devices.
Axes, Tools,
Farm Machinery,
Etc., Etc.

We have either arranged to give the purchaser his choice of all the varieties, or we have selected after careful comparison, what we consider to be the best. Everything in our stock has been chosen with particular reference to the want of this community and the surrounding country, and we want every purchaser to feel assured that in buying of us he is getting the greatest obtainable value for his money. Speaking of money brings us to the question of prices, and right here we must be pardoned if we do a little bragging. We do not claim to be smarter than the generality of men in a horse trade or sharper in a dog dicker, but when it comes to buying a stock of Hardware stores we know just what we are about. We have been enabled by our experience and certain advantages we possess—not the least of which is buying for SPOT CASH, to lay in our new spring stock of seasonable goods at figures which would astonish our competitors if they knew them, and will allow us to offer our patrons a benefit in the way of ROCK BOTTOM PRICES for TIP TOP GOODS, that we are sure will be appreciated.

—The party of the Janesville Guards who went to Rockford to meet the Macon Volunteers yesterday, arrived home on the early train this morning. They report having had a good time at the banquet last night.

—Marshal Hogan was compelled to care for an old man hailing from Beloit whom he found on the streets in a drunken and helpless condition to-day. The late tornado in that quiet city had evidently deranged the old man's mind, and he wandered away from home.

—The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway company are putting down a new and substantial sidewalk fronting their property west of the passenger depot, along Bluff street, which makes a very convenient improvement, for which pedestrians will be thankful.

—The Barlow, Wilson & Co.'s minstrel troupe which appears at Myers opera house to-morrow evening, is the "Jumbo of Minstrelsy." It is the greatest troupe on the road, and will give by all odds, the finest minstrel performance ever seen in this city. This is pretty strong, but not stronger than the merits of the troupe.

—The funeral of the late Mrs. Louisa Gretzmacher, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Sell, on South Jackson street, Monday afternoon, took place at two o'clock this afternoon. The deceased was eighty-two years of age, and had been a resident of Janesville about sixteen years, and was highly respected in this community.

The lady, however, states that she is willing to put up two or five hundred dollars for a six days' contest with any man in America.

—The passenger and freight depots of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad company in this city are lively places just now, owing to the wreck of the Beloit bridge. All the trains, passenger and freight, on the Madison division, now pass through this city, and change crews here instead of Harvard Junction. Conductor Sam. Nessling's train, Dakota express, went through this morning with ten coaches, including two palace and one dining car, well filled. The yards are full of freight trains, all of which looks like business.

—This noon Mr. Huguuin's horse, attached to a buggy in front of the Grand Hotel, became frightened, broke from the hitching post and took a lively run down Milwaukee street, furnishing a little excitement and amusement for the Mineral Point excursionists. In its rapid pace down the street several vehicles were struck, the only damage being to the horse belonging to the C. O. D. store. Arriving at Stearns & Baker's corner, the horse undertook to make a short turn down Franklin street, and overturned the buggy on the sidewalk, which remained in that position until an alcohol barrel standing on the walk was struck, which broke the top off the buggy. The horse again took the streets with the remainder of the vehicle, and on reaching the Central house, was stopped. The buggy was a total wreck. Other damage light. Considerable excitement.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

A Grand Old Time Jubilee to be Held in Janesville.

The Preliminary Meeting for a Grand Fourth of July Celebration.

The Committee Appointed to Make All Arrangements.

The meeting called at the city hall last evening for the purpose of making arrangements to celebrate the Fourth of July in Janesville was attended by a number of our most enthusiastic and patriotic citizens, and business men.

The meeting was organized by the election of Mayor J. W. St. John as chairman, and O. H. Brand as secretary.

It was at once decided that Janesville should have a good old time jubilee on the coming Fourth of July, and all present seemed to be of one opinion and that was to go to work and make the necessary arrangements for a grand patriotic celebration in Janesville,—one that would be an honor to the city. The above sentiment was put in the shape of a motion by Mr. H. C. Stearns, and adopted without a dissenting voice.

Mr. C. E. Moseley moved that a committee of five be appointed, whose duty it should be to make all the detailed arrangements for a first-class celebration.

The motion was adopted, and the following gentlemen were appointed as such committee: Messrs. W. T. Vankirk, H. C. Stearns, Thomas F. Murray, Dr. Thor. Judd, and R. W. King.

The above committee were authorized to appoint all sub-committees, and have full power, to the end that Janesville shall have one of the best celebrations ever held in the city.

The committee is a good one, and will at once proceed with the details for the celebration. They will have a deal of hard labor to perform, and it behooves every patriotic citizen to give them all the aid possible, that their plans may be fully carried out. There is no reason why Janesville should not have an entertainment on the Fourth of July which, in magnitude, will eclipse anything of the kind ever yet held in the city. Our business men should give the committee such financial encouragement as will render the undertaking a success beyond doubt. This is the first step towards making a good celebration. Every citizen should lend a helping hand in whatever manner possible, and with a united effort of all, we will have a glorious good time for all who may visit the Bower City on that great day.

The committee have already commenced the work of planning the celebration, and authorize the announcement that they will have one of the best processions and entertainments ever held in Janesville. Captain Vankirk will visit Chicago to-morrow, for the purpose of securing General Fairchild as the orator of the day, and completing other details. Our readers are assured that the committee are determined to do all in their power that Janesville will have a glorious Fourth of July.

Griggs' Glycerine Salve.

The best on earth can truly be said of Griggs' Glycerine Salve, which is sure cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds, and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, tetter and skin eruptions. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Only 25 cents. For sale by Sterns & Baker.

A Successful Clothing House.

One of the largest as well as one of the most complete ready-made clothing houses in Southern Wisconsin, is that owned by Mr. R. M. Bostwick. He has been engaged in the business thirty years in Janesville, and at the present location on Main street some twenty-three years. During that time he has built up a business that is a credit to his industry, ability and enterprise, and an honor to the clothing trade of this city. When a young man begins with nothing save the capital there is in energy and a good name, and on these establishes a large and successful business that cannot be wrecked by the chances and changes that take place in the commercial world, the achievement is one that men delight to honor. Mr. Bostwick has done this. His large store is filled with one of the choicest stocks of ready made clothing, and men's furnishing goods, Janesville ever saw. He takes particular pains in buying, buys the very best, of firms in the east that have national reputation, and the result is his ready-made garments contain excellent material and are a complete fit. For variety of styles—embracing the latest and the best goods, his stock is remarkably fine, and the prices are exceedingly moderate.

The School Census.

School commissioner A. O. Wilson has commenced the labor of taking the census of the school children in this city, which is not an easy task. When our people reflect the labor required of the census taker, the small compensation received, and the absolute necessity of making his returns complete, they will readily see the necessity of at once giving him all the required information, and that without delay. The census taker is compelled to call at every house. He rings the door bell; the lady imagines, (and perhaps she has seen him approaching the house with his books under his arm, and has mistaken him for a book-agent) that some peddler is at the door; she remains quiet; he rings again; and after a few moments reflection of his early youth, he pulls the bell again, with force enough to wrench the knob from the door, which brings Bridget to the front with the information that her mistress is not at home. He tries to obtain the necessary answers—but Bridget being under instructions, and fearing that the census taker is collecting names for the next draft, gives him an evasive answer, and he finally gives up the task, only to be repeated at the next door. He often falls in the wake of a covey of book-agents, and then there is real fun, and a half day is spent within a few blocks. Truly Brother Wilson is entitled to the sympathy of all, and we sincerely hope that he may become better acquainted, that all doors will be thrown open to him during the remainder of his work of collecting the census.

The census taker is obliged to take down the following items:

1. The name of parents or guardians.
2. All children between the ages of four and twenty years.
3. All children between the ages of seven and fifteen years.
4. The number attending school.

It makes considerable difference with the people whether the census of the school children is made complete; and we again urge that Mr. Wilson be not taken any longer for a book agent or peddler, but that he be made welcome, and all questions answered promptly, that he may continue his good work rejoicing that he will come out even with time and expense.

The Stewart Case.

The testimony in the Stewart murder case was all taken last evening, and this morning Wm. Smith, for the state, and O. H. Fethers, for the defense, occupied the attention of the circuit court with their arguments. This afternoon John W. Sale, for the state, and Hon. John Winans, for the defense, will close the arguments, the time being limited to six o'clock. Judge Bennett will then charge the jury and put the case in their hands.

The Thirteenth Regiment.

At the re-union of the veterans of the old thirteenth regiment, held in Evansville, last week, the following officers were elected:

Major—S. C. Cobb. Janesville, Wis.
Captain—W. A. Knilans, Delevan, Wis.
Lieutenant—W. P. Clarke, Milton, Wis.

The next re-union will be held at Sharon, Wis., early in September, 1884. The re-union was a success in every particular. The Evansville Review, of yesterday, in giving a long account of the exercises, speaks thus:

Commander Cobb, of W. H. Sargent Post, of Janesville, introduced several prominent speakers, including the governor and Commander Cheek, who made short, pleasant speeches, which were heartily cheered. When dinner was announced, Commander West escorted them to the tables which were soon filled with ex-soldiers and citizens, the governor and party occupying the head of the first table, apparently enjoying the plain fare of pork and beans, doughnuts and hard tack, as well as the poorest and plainest person present. After satisfying the ravenous appetites which they all seemingly possessed, they returned to the speaker's stand, where a general good time or love feast was enjoyed, telling stories, making short speeches, and singing old army songs which drove away the blues from many a camp fire during the war. The names as far as possible of all the soldiers present were then enrolled by Lieutenant W. P. Clark, of Milton. After the close of these exercises the soldiers fell into line and made a very respectable dress parade in the open field adjoining the timber, showing a much larger attendance than was supposed, after which all were dismissed to follow their own inclinations the rest of the day. It then being after 4 o'clock many attended the ball play on the High school grounds, which proved one of the most interesting attractions of the day, while others assembled at the Post hall in the evening enjoying themselves in telling stories, singing and attending to business matters. With all the entire entertainment was declared a success, not a drunken person being seen on the grounds or streets during the entire day, everybody happy and well provided for, many stating that they had attended several similar gatherings and never enjoyed themselves better nor never saw a beef cooked as well whole, it being done throughout, even to the center of the hams. Many thanks are due the ladies for the bountiful supply of provisions which they furnished and their kind assistance. There were 360 feet of tables with a seating capacity for at least 500 persons, which were reset five times. Mr. W. Burk, who took charge of the coffee department, says that at least 150 persons were supplied with provisions from the commissary tent aside from those who were seated at the tables and that eleven large boilers of coffee were used. It was estimated that between four and five thousand persons were present."

The Minstrels.

Speaking of the great minstrel performance in this city at the opera house on Thursday evening, we reproduce the following notice taken from the Toronto Mail, of May 15th:

"Despite the heavy downpour of rain last night the grand opera house was crowed, on the occasion of the appearance of Barlow, Wilson & Co.'s minstrels. There could have been but one opinion last night, and that was that this troupe must be classed among the best on the road. The first part of the programme was, as usual, devoted to solos, several of which were rendered with excellent effect. The eccentric song, "If I had but fifty cents," by Frank Cushman, hit the popular taste, and he had to repeat it five or six times before the audience quieted down. Barlow and Wilson's jokes were also greatly appreciated. In the second part Leon, the female impersonator, was honored with a double recall. The clog dancing of Barney Fagan and Master Haney, followed by historical tableau, in which eight took part, was loudly applauded. George Wilson, in his original comicalities, kept the audience convulsed with laughter, and Schoolcraft and Coes continued the fun. The great hit of the evening, was, however, the acrobatic quartette, E. H. Talbert, James Tierney, Crawford, and McKisson, who created quite a furore. Their forward and backward somersaults off one foot, and throwing twisting somersaults together, were simply wonderful, and require to be seen to be appreciated. The audience was kept in roars of laughter, and at the conclusion of their performance the cheers and applause were deafening. They were recalled again and again, but wisely bowed their acknowledgements, as it was too much to expect them to repeat such exhausting evolutions. The other specialties were also very good. A musical satire, 'Laugtry, or Ben Butler and the Jersey Lily," was an apt conclusion to a first-class entertainment."
